Takuya met Saki at a party. She was beautiful. Takuya was only one of many men who ① (be) *chasing after her, and he was very *ordinary and nobody paid any attention (②) him.

At the end of the party, Takuya invited Saki to have coffee with him. She was surprised but she agreed. They sat in a nice coffee shop. He was too nervous to say anything. She was not comfortable, and she thought to herself, "I want ③ to go home."

While they ④ (sit) silently with their coffee, Takuya suddenly asked the waiter, "Would you give me some salt?" Everybody looked (⑤) him. Who puts salt in their coffee? So strange! His face turned red but still, he put the salt in his coffee and drank it. Saki asked him, "Why did you ⑥ do that?" Takuya replied, "When I was a little boy, I lived near the sea. I liked the taste of the sea, just like the taste of salty coffee. Now every time I have salty coffee, I always think (⑦) my *childhood and my hometown. I miss my hometown so much. I miss my parents who are still living there." Saki was *deeply touched. They were his true *feelings, from the bottom of his heart. She thought a man who could talk about his feelings must be a man who loves home, cares about home, and understands the *responsibility of home. Then she also started ⑧ to speak about her hometown far away, her childhood and her family.

It was a really nice talk, and also a beautiful ㉔(begin) to their story. They *continued ㉔to date. Saki found that Takuya was actually a man who *met all her demands. He had a kind heart and was warm and careful. He was such a good person that she could be his wife.

Thanks to his salty coffee, their story was just like a beautiful love story. The princess married the prince, and then they lived a happy life together. And, every time she made coffee (㉕) him, she put some salt in it, as she knew that was the way he liked.

After 40 years, Takuya *passed away. He left Saki a letter which said,

 My dearest, please *forgive me. Forgive the lie I've told my *whole life. This was the only time I lied to you — the salty coffee.

Do you remember the first time we dated? I was so nervous that although I actually wanted some sugar, I said salt. It was hard for me to change my word.

I never thought that would be the start of our communication! I tried to tell you ㉖the truth many times in my life, but I was too afraid to do that because I promised never to lie to you.

Now I'm ㉗(die). I am afraid of nothing, so I can tell you the truth. I don't like salty coffee. What a strange, bad taste! But I have had salty coffee my whole life! Since I met you, I have never felt sorry for the lie I told ㉘to stay with you. Having you with me is my biggest happiness.

㉙(the letter / made / Saki's / tears) wet.

One day, someone asked her, "What does salty coffee taste like?" She replied, "It's very (㉚)."
