Stan Rosen lived in New Bedford, Massachusetts. He stole cars and bicycles from people, and he ①(sell) them again. He *made a living in that way. One day, he was ②(catch) by the police and sent to *jail.

The next year, Stan was out of jail. He told some people his name was Jim Rosen. He got money from them ③(to start) a business. Then he ran away with the money. After some months, the police *arrested him again, and sent him to jail.

The year after that, Stan was home again. He didn't have a job, and he didn't have any money. One night, he stole some money from a store. Again, the police arrested him. But this time, they sent him to *Judge Kane.

Judge Kane asked Stan, "Do you want ④(to go) to jail again? Or do you want to read books?" Stan didn't understand.

"《 A 》" said the judge, "There is a new course at New Bedford High School. It's for people like you. You're 27 years old. You never finished school. You don't have a job. You steal things. But you never hurt anyone. So you can take the course and read books with *Professor Waxler. Or you can go to jail."

Stan didn't read much. ⑤(He didn't like to read books!) But he didn't want to go to jail again. So he decided ⑥(read) books in Professor Waxler's class. "You must go to every class," said the judge. "And you must read all the books."

Stan went to the first class. There were ten men in the class. All the men were sent to the class by Judge Kane. In the first class, they read a short story.

Professor Waxler asked, "What do you think about it?"

⑦(The men said nothing. ⑧(didn't / know / say / they / to / what).) Stan wanted to answer the questions, but he was afraid to talk. ⑨(He (didn't / hear / men / to / the other / want) him.)

"Did you like the story?" Professor Waxler asked him.

"No," said Stan.

"《 B 》" asked Professor Waxler.

"Because the end was happy, but life isn't happy," said Stan.

"《 C 》" said another man. "Life is happy for some people, sometimes."

Then other men started talking about the story and about life. They talked for two hours. ⑩(Professor Waxler told them to read a book for the next class.) It was a book about a young man with many problems.

At the next class, Professor Waxler asked again, "《 D 》"

This time the men were not afraid to answer. They had many things ⑪(to say) about the book, and they talked a lot about their lives. ⑫(Many of them had difficult lives with lots of problems.)

After that, Stan ⑬(take) evening classes at the high school. Judge Kane helped him to find a job for the daytime. The next year, he started evening classes at university. Now Stan is a good student — and he has no problems with the police. Thanks to Judge Kane and Professor Waxler — and some books.
